Air Conditioning & Cooling Projects

At Anan Al Sahab, we provide comprehensive solutions and innovative proposals for the execution of air conditioning and cooling systems with high efficiency, tailored to meet the needs of residential, commercial, and industrial buildings. Our engineering and technical teams combine deep expertise with up-to-date technical knowledge to implement all types of HVAC systems.

In every project, we are committed to the highest standards of quality and professionalism, while applying global best practices in design and execution. This ensures the creation of optimal indoor environments characterized by maximum comfort, energy efficiency, and sustainable operation.

Our vision goes beyond delivering a service—it is about creating a complete experience for our clients, built on reliability, precision, and attention to detail.

We specialize in implementing a wide range of systems including:

VRF systems, chiller systems, concealed duct systems, split units, and central air conditioning systems.

Ductwork Air Distribution Systems

At Anan Al Sahab, we specialize in providing comprehensive ductwork services, where our engineers handle the study, design, and execution of ventilation systems in accordance with the highest international standards, including SMACNA specifications.

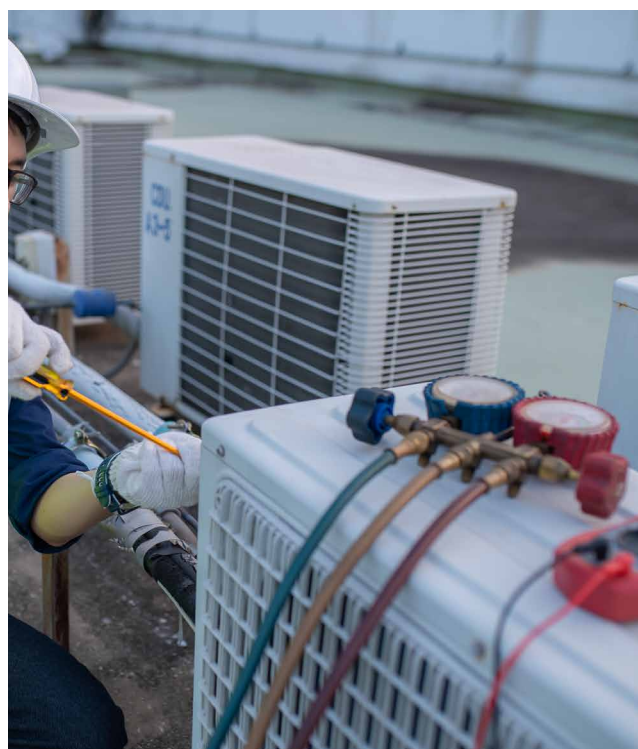

We are committed to meeting each client's specific requirements with precision, ensuring that all work is carried out based on approved plans and tailored to the unique nature of each project.

Our skilled technical team performs all installation activities under the direct supervision of on-site engineers to guarantee the highest levels of quality, efficiency, and to deliver optimal comfort and safety for our clients.

HVAC Maintenance Services

At Anan Al Sahab, we offer comprehensive maintenance services for HVAC systems, including preventive, routine, and emergency maintenance. Our goal is to maintain operational efficiency and ensure consistent, high-quality performance across all types of projects.

We provide certified and original spare parts for all types of air conditioning units, ensuring full compatibility with system requirements and optimal functionality.

All maintenance activities are carried out under the supervision of specialized engineers and qualified technicians who ensure precise and effective execution in accordance with the highest standards of safety and quality.

Copper Pipe Installation

At Anan Al Sahab, we perform high-quality copper pipe installation to ensure seamless connection between indoor and outdoor AC units. Our work guarantees efficient refrigerant flow, optimal system performance, and long-term reliability, all while adhering to industry standards and best practices for safety, durability, and energy efficiency.

We are committed to using materials that fully comply with approved technical specifications, and all installations are performed in accordance with the highest engineering standards.

This approach ensures optimal airflow—whether cold or hot—depending on the operational requirements.

Thorough testing is conducted after installation to verify the tightness of connections and the overall system performance, guaranteeing maximum cooling efficiency and reliable, long-term operation.

ISO in Quality Management

Anan Al Sahab Operation and Maintenance Company has proudly obtained the ISO 9001:2015 certification for Quality Management Systems. This recognition highlights the company's continuous commitment to operational excellence, applying the highest levels of efficiency, and adhering to the most rigorous international standards across all areas of its business.

This achievement is a testament to our quality-driven culture and our ongoing efforts to improve processes, enhance customer satisfaction, and maintain our reputation for reliability and professionalism.
